USWC Congestion & Vessel Schedule Update 27 Feb 2015

Dear Valued Customer,

While the ILWU and PMA 5 year tentative agreement is still pending ratification, we are seeing improvement in operations on the USWC. As previously advised, we expect complete recovery from the accumulated congestion may take a considerable amount of time, estimated anywhere between 2 to 3 months. In the attached update you will note there is a total of 18 vessels, at anchor, scheduled to anchor, or still adrift compared to the 24 we reported on the 23rd. However depending on volume/ berth availability/productivity that number may rise and fall sporadically. As soon as a more definitive forecast is available we will share that information with you.

Until the congestion clears, we expect terminals will continue to place varying restrictions on export receiving and empty container returns. Prior to attempting to return equipment, please consult <http://www.returnlocation.com> for the appropriate return facility. Due to the dynamics of this situation, empty equipment return instructions may change on a daily basis. NYK is taking every additional measure possible to ensure there are accessible facilities.

Import customers are urged to arrange pick up of their cargo as soon as possible which will assist to reduce terminals congestion and speed up of vessel berthing.

As always, NYK Line appreciates your ongoing support and continues to strive to provide quality service to meet your needs.
